

Ready to become a global player?

You're in safe hands
trading internationally

Making it easier for businesses to manage their currency risks.

- Bank of Ireland has launched a new €20 million foreign exchange facility to make it easier for our customers to protect their business from the risks of currency market volatility. We're making the process simpler, and more accessible, with our new easy access foreign exchange facility.
- The result? You can fix your foreign exchange exposure at competitive market rates on the day you agree a contract with your customer or supplier. This protects your profit margins from adverse currency movements. It's one of the ways we can help your business to thrive internationally.
